BECKETT, SHRIVENHAM,
BERKS.

Dear Mr. Dauce

I was so touched by your kind thought of giving the school play
half past eight as a tribute of respect to my dear husband.

The various shows of affection & esteem
shown for him in this place give me far more pleasure than any tributes from outside sources.

For him there is rest.
I peace after all his suffering I his simple slowing faith overcome
all fear of death
but for me the blank
seems terrible, though
I can still feel he is near me

With many thanks again for your service of Edinburgh

Will you please read enclosed. To the school children

Letter dated Sept 22, (1933) Beckett, Shrivenham, Berks

Dear Mr Dance

I was so touched by your kind thought of flying the school flag half mast high as a tribute of respect to my dear husband.

The various tokens of appreciation and esteem shown for him in this place give me far more pleasure than any tributes from outside places.

For him there to rest in peace after all his sufferings this example so long felt overcame all fear of death, but for me the blow seems terrible, though I can still feel he is near me.

Well many thanks again.

Yours Sincerely

Charlotte Barrington

SHRIVENHAM,

BERKS.

My dear children

I must write & tell you how much I appreciate the lovely wreath you sent made of flowers from your own garden for my dear husband's grave.

He was always so fond of the young people &
I know how much he would have welcomed
this token of your affection Our kind regards to your Schoolmaster, W. Dancer

My dear friend
Mrs. Beckett

has spoken so highly of Lord Barington's
character & qualities, & I do feel nothing would please the one who has now gone from us, so much as to know that you, the children of this people, are taking as an example you will follow now & in later life, the unselfishness, patronism of love, serene botheris & simple faith in God. The marked characteristic of his life, you thus will be paying him the tribute he would most value

Letter dated Sept 22, (1933) Beckett, Shrivenham, Berks

My Dear Children

I must write and tell you how much I appreciate the lovely wreath you sent made of flowers from your own gardens for my dear husband's grave.

He was always so fond of the young people and I know how much he would have welcomed this token of your affection. His kind friend and your school master, Mr Dance, has spoken so kindly of Lord Barrington's character and qualities and I do feel nothing would please the one who has won love from us, so much as to know, that you the children of this village, are taking as an example you will follow now and in the later life, the usefulness, patriotism and love, service to others and simple faith in God, the marked characteristics of his life, you thus will be paying him the tribute he would most value.

Your affectionate friend

Charlotte Barrington
